Guide to Your Chart

A short reference to the language of the chart – the planets, the twelve houses, and the aspects between them – before the reading begins.

The Planets

THE TEN FORCES

SUN

Identity, vitality, and the will to become who you are.

The Sun is the core of the chart – the conscious self and the source of your life force. It shows what you are here to express and the recognition that makes you feel truly alive.

MERCURY

Mind, language, and the exchange of ideas.

Mercury is how you think, learn, and communicate. It shapes the way you gather information and put it into words, colouring your curiosity, your humour, and the rhythm of your speech.

MARS

Drive, desire, and the courage to act.

Mars is your energy and assertion – how you pursue what you want and defend what matters. It rules passion, ambition, and anger; well-directed, it gives the courage to begin.

SATURN

Structure, discipline, and hard-won maturity.

Saturn is the principle of limitation and responsibility – the teacher of the chart. It marks where effort and patience are required, and rewards them in time with genuine mastery.

NEPTUNE

Imagination, compassion, and the dissolving of limits.

Neptune softens boundaries, opening you to dream, art, and the spiritual. It can inspire or deceive in equal measure – where you reach for something beyond the material world.

MOON

Instinct, emotion, and the need for belonging.

The Moon governs your inner life: how you feel, what soothes you, and the conditions you need to feel safe. It carries the imprint of early childhood and responds before thought arrives.

VENUS

Love, beauty, and what you hold dear.

Venus describes how you relate, what you find attractive, and the pleasures you are drawn to. It governs affection, taste, and your sense of worth – how you give and receive.

JUPITER

Growth, meaning, and the search for more.

Jupiter expands whatever it touches, bringing optimism, opportunity, and a hunger for understanding. It governs belief and the broad view, pointing to where life invites you to grow.

URANUS

Freedom, originality, and sudden change.

Uranus breaks patterns and disrupts the expected, ruling invention, rebellion, and the flash of insight. Where it sits, you are most yourself when you are most free.

PLUTO

Power, depth, and transformation.

Pluto governs what is hidden, intense, and capable of profound change. It strips away the inessential and rebuilds from the core; where it falls, you meet death and renewal.

The Houses

TWELVE FIELDS OF LIFE

1 First House

Self, body, and the face you show the world.

3 Third House

Communication, learning, siblings, short journeys.

5 Fifth House

Creativity, romance, children, and play.

7 Seventh House

Partnership, marriage, and significant others.

9 Ninth House

Beliefs, higher learning, and long-distance travel.

11 Eleventh House

Friendships, groups, and hopes for the future.

2 Second House

Money, possessions, values, and self-worth.

4 Fourth House

Home, family, roots, and your inner foundation.

6 Sixth House

Work, health, routine, and daily service.

8 Eighth House

Intimacy, shared resources, and transformation.

10 Tenth House

Career, reputation, and public standing.

12 Twelfth House

Solitude, the unconscious, and what is hidden.

The Aspects

THE FIVE MAJOR ANGLES

Conjunction

0°

Two planets merge, fusing their energies into a single, concentrated force.

Opposition

180°

Two planets face off across the chart – a tension of opposites seeking balance.

Square

90°

A right-angle friction that creates pressure, challenge, and the impetus to grow.

Trine

120°

An effortless flow between planets – natural talent that can be taken for granted.

Sextile

60°

A gentle angle of opportunity, offering ease when you actively engage it.

I OPENING PORTRAIT

the whole chart

THE LINE — MOON-PLUTO

“You can be deeply present, and you can disappear without warning.”

You carry your career on your face and your feelings in a much deeper room. That's the first tension worth naming: a Sun in Cancer, high in the tenth house, means your sense of who you are gets bound up with public standing, achievement, a role people can recognise you by. But the Moon sits in Aries in the seventh house, and Aries wants to act alone, fast, on instinct – an odd engine to put inside a placement so tuned to partnership and the good opinion of others. You spend a good deal of energy translating between the two.

The tightest thread in the whole chart is the Moon's trine to Pluto, barely a quarter of a degree from exact – about as close as these things get. It gives you an emotional intensity that doesn't announce itself loudly but runs very deep, a capacity to sit with people at the bottom of their worst moments without flinching. It also means very little in your inner life stays casual for long.

With Libra rising, the face you present is diplomatic, easy, interested in the other person before yourself. That's not quite the whole truth of you, and people who only meet the rising sign often underestimate what's underneath.

Water runs deepest in this chart, and cardinal energy dominates almost everything else – which means you feel enormously, and you act on what you feel almost immediately, without much patience for sitting still inside it first. That combination gives you real momentum. It also means the times you're forced to simply wait, unable to initiate, unable to fix or move, are the times that test you hardest. The chart ahead works out what that costs you, and what it buys.

II LIFE PATH

Ascendant (Libra)

Venus rules this chart, and it shows in how naturally you find the room's warmest corner and the person of real presence within it. But this Venus sits in Leo in the eleventh house, tied to Pluto – so the diplomacy Libra rising offers isn't just pleasant sociability, it's magnetism with weight behind it. You don't merely get along with people; you draw them in, deliberately or not, and something in you needs to be seen vividly rather than simply liked. That combination means your instinctive stance towards the unknown is charm with intent – an ease that has ambition folded inside it, aimed at influence within a group rather than at private intimacy alone.

Basically you are a friendly type of person, and you have a genuine and natural interest in other people. You probably come across as a sociable and charming person, and you have a special talent for creating an atmosphere of peace and harmony. Partnerships are alpha and omega for you, and you will seldom be alone in your life. You are willing to make many compromises to ensure that a relationship functions smoothly. Using your ability to see matters from another person's point of view, you can defuse conflict before it begins. However this tendency may be construed by others as a reluctance to confront important matters when they arise, and this in turn evokes a confrontational attitude in those who are close to you. You have a fine discriminating judgement - use this to discern when you should compromise, and when you should make a stand.

You are drawn to people who carry themselves with genuine warmth and a certain quality of presence – those who occupy the centre of their social circle not through performance but through an authentic magnetism. Good taste, good manners, and a quality of style are not merely aesthetic preferences for you but signals of something you instinctively trust. You are genuinely warm-hearted and romantic, and you offer a real loyalty to those you care for. The shadow is a weakness for admiration that can make you vulnerable to the flattering gaze and reluctant to stay in a situation where you are no longer being seen as vividly as you need to be. Blows to personal pride land hard and can seriously affect the stability of a relationship.

You hold a kindly, tolerant attitude towards most people, and this generates a wide social circle of genuine warmth and mutual benefit. Warm, friendly relations have real priority in your life. In intimate relationships, the social dimension remains important – you are not comfortable directing all your love towards a single person, and maintaining your friendships is a genuine requirement for feeling fully alive. This means you can be somewhat romantically cool in a one-to-one relationship, though you are valued and appreciated on a collective level. You need the feedback and appreciation of friends to feel genuinely well in yourself.

LIFE PATH: LIGHT OF THE FUTURE

Uranus ☐ Ascendant

A real tension, though not the loudest note.

You feel your role in life to be connected in some way to the necessity for change – to future visions rather than present conventions. You add genuine originality to your surroundings, and people are either inspired or provoked by your personal style, sometimes both simultaneously. You tend to deploy shock tactics to make an impression – sometimes because the situation genuinely calls for it, and sometimes because the habit has outlasted its original purpose. You thrive in atmospheres of genuine excitement and unpredictability; stability for its own sake bores you at a deep level.

IMPORTANT TRANSITIONS — LIFE PATH • 2026-2028

Pluto ♄ natal Ascendant

JAN 2025 – FEB 2027

This is a beneficial influence, even if you are not consciously aware of its workings. Creativity and expansion are favoured – make use of the opportunities that arise.

One of the major periods of personal transformation in your life. A deep tiredness with how things have been generates the energy for fundamental change. Everything becomes stark; compromise feels impossible; the awareness of mortality is present and acute. Where the future seems empty, that emptiness is the necessary precondition for genuine renewal. Release what is draining you. Go for what actually matters, without waiting for external permission or security guarantees. You cannot afford to keep the status quo – even at the cost of relationships or positions that have felt important.

Saturn ♄ natal Ascendant

FEB-APR 2026

Strong tensions will manifest in this area of your life. Other people are likely to impinge directly and require you to make real adjustments.

An inner discontent with your current way of living prompts a serious re-examination of where your life is going. This will affect how you look at significant relationships – you no longer want to invest in superficial involvements, yet commitment also feels heavy to contemplate. Be hard on yourself in the right sense: develop genuine inner strength and self-sufficiency. This is difficult, but it produces something real.

Neptune ♆ natal Ascendant

MAR 2026 – APR 2027

This is a strong influence that can bring significant change, genuine dilemmas, or separation. Travel may feature in connection with the matters described.

A period of felt aloneness and disorientation around the practical aspects of life. Partnerships may suffer from a confusion about what you actually want and whether to commit to it. Finding new meaning – not just purpose but felt meaning – is the essential task. Spiritual awakening, enhanced intuitive capacity, creative development, and attention to what is actually magical in everyday experience are all the appropriate response. Do not compromise inner needs for the sake of external respectability. Your soul's requirements are the priority now.

Uranus ♄ natal Ascendant

MAY 2026 – MAY 2027

This is a beneficial influence, even if you are not consciously aware of its workings. Creativity and expansion are favoured – make use of the opportunities that arise.

This is the best period in your life to live out genuine freedom and to manifest what makes your life uniquely yours. You cannot afford to be constrained by other people's concepts of responsibility; this is your time, approximately a year in which the moves you make will shape much of what follows. A sense of excitement and even euphoria about new possibility is real and worth acting on. Experimentation, group involvement, humanitarian concerns, and social idealism are all especially favoured. Those close to you need to understand that interference with your exploration of this period will not be accepted.

III IDENTITY

Sun

Achievement and identity are fused for you, and the trouble starts precisely there – because your Sun opposes Jupiter, and that opposition keeps moving the target further off just as you reach it. Cancer's need for emotional roots gets channelled entirely into professional standing, so the nurturing, protective warmth that sign usually offers a private life instead goes into building a reputation. That works, up to a point, and produces real accomplishment. But Jupiter's expansiveness sitting opposite means satisfaction never quite lands; there's always a larger horizon calling before you've let yourself feel the one you've already reached. The task isn't finding a bigger goal. It's learning to stop mid-climb and actually notice you got somewhere.

The bond to your mother – or to the figure who occupied that role – will have been particularly formative. You are sensitive and easily hurt, though this may not be immediately apparent from the outside. Equally, you are fiercely loyal in defence of those you love; injury done to them lands as injury to you. The greatest dilemma of your life comes when bonds of attachment are broken – when family structures change, when what felt permanent turns out not to be. At these times the danger is sentimental clinging to the past, which can stand directly in the way of your growth. You have a real talent for creating nurturing environments for those close to you; the challenge is to extend that same generosity outwards, and to allow what needs to change to change.

Self-esteem is closely tied to your achievements in society – a connection that traces back to a parent, probably the father, who instilled strong ideas about duty and public respect. The drive to reach goals is one of the most powerful motivations in your life; the difficulty is that the goalposts keep moving. Learning to rest in what you have achieved, rather than immediately orienting towards the next target, would allow genuine satisfaction more room. Because you identify so strongly with your professional role – you are what you do – spontaneity and emotional availability in intimate life can be harder to access. Your partner's respect and appreciation matter deeply to your sense of self.

THE LINE

Sun ♃ Jupiter

This aspect is extremely powerful in your horoscope; it will dominate many areas of your life. This aspect shows a strong polarisation and difficulty integrating the two principles involved. Travel and separation may feature in connection with the matters described.

You are an inspiring presence with a genuine gift for positive thinking and finding meaning in experience. Your search for wisdom leads to sustained study and travel, and over the course of your life you develop a set of convictions and conclusions that carry real influence in your personal environment. Finding a mentor or teacher who can genuinely impress you is important – but few will have the intellectual or spiritual depth you actually require. If you do not cultivate genuine receptivity to the ideas of others, you can become opinionated and mentally dominating – the person who holds forth in discussions rather than engaging in them. More dignity, and more lasting influence, comes from sharing your views only when they are invited. Generally, though, the breadth of your mind and your tolerance create a good impression on most people you encounter.

Saturn ☐ natal Sun

MAY 2027 – MAR 2028

Significant friction arises from this influence – yet if you use the pressure to initiate real change, you can make genuine progress.

At the start of this phase, self-esteem is likely to be lower than usual and the sense of being seen and valued may be minimal. There is a strong inner imperative to do something that genuinely matters – and the sooner this is acted on, the better. A feeling of carrying too many burdens, and of having to live up to others' expectations, is common. The remedy is to take full responsibility for your own life, define new goals with clarity, and demonstrate – particularly to your family of origin – that you can look after yourself. This is a period of genuine identity development; you will emerge from it stronger and more self-reliant.

IV EMOTIONS

Moon

Feeling, for you, doesn't stay in the background – it runs the show, often before you've consciously registered what you're reacting to. Aries in the seventh house means your emotional life is inseparable from partnership, but it moves fast, wants resolution now, and doesn't wait patiently for someone else's pace. The Moon's trine to Pluto is where the real weight sits: an emotional intensity capable of real transformation, both your own and other people's, particularly in crisis. It's a gift that makes you formidable company when things fall apart. But the Moon also opposes Neptune, which means the boundary between what you feel and what you've absorbed from someone else blurs easily – the impatience of Aries paired with a porousness that can leave you reacting to moods that were never actually yours.

You thrive in relationships that give you genuine freedom to act independently – and some of your most painful memories are connected with times when that freedom was taken from you. Harmony in close relationships depends heavily on your developing control over your temper. There is a tendency towards short-temperedness that has roots in frustration or a tense atmosphere in childhood; you have learned to use the threat of a difficult mood as leverage for getting what you want. With time – and it does come with time – you develop patience. As a partner, though, you are genuinely good company: you know how to create an atmosphere in which things actually happen, and that quality is hard to replicate.

Much of your emotional life centres on partnership. Early bonds are formed before full emotional maturity has arrived, driven by a strong need for security and stability. The pull towards a caring, steady partner is real. The recurring difficulty is an over-sensitivity to the partner's emotional state – a tendency to absorb their feelings as your own and react to them as if they were caused by you, which in turn amplifies those feelings in the partner and generates a cycle of mutual reactivity. Learning to distinguish what you actually feel from what you are picking up from the other person is the central emotional task of your intimate life. When that distinction is established, your genuine concern for a partner becomes a source of warmth rather than anxiety.

THE LINE

Moon △ Pluto

This aspect is extremely powerful in your horoscope, and will be a major feature of your character. The contact between these planets is harmonious. You will rarely be troubled by their more difficult qualities – they represent a resource you can draw on consistently.

You feel everything very deeply, though people who know you only on the surface may not appreciate this. A number of disturbing early experiences produced an emotional self-protection that has become habitual – you play it cool in crisis, rarely letting on how things actually land for you. The difficulty in intimate relationships is exactly this: if you had the courage to show vulnerability, people would treat you with far more care. You cling to emotional bonds with great intensity, yet in crisis you can suddenly amputate your feelings entirely and become unreachable – a shift that is genuinely frightening for those who love you. Ultimata and emotional withdrawal are the defensive mechanisms that most need examination; overcoming them is what makes the deep, committed intimacy you are actually seeking possible.

EMOTIONS: DEVELOP INTUITIVE SENSITIVITY

Moon ♀ Neptune

A defining friction – one of the real tensions in your chart.

The greatest personal challenge is emotional satisfaction – and working towards it requires understanding what was established emotionally in childhood. The temptation is to drift into feeling states: sentimentality, vague dissatisfaction, moods that flood the environment and affect everyone around you. In partnerships the boundary between yourself and the other person is genuinely porous – you absorb moods and atmospheres almost involuntarily, which makes deliberate attention to your emotional environment a practical necessity, not an indulgence. The older you get, the clearer it becomes that this permeability is a habit rooted in early conditioning rather than an immutable feature of who you are. Avoid the emotional swamp. Your gift – genuine empathic attunement, the ability to understand others at depth – is real and worth protecting.

EMOTIONS: EMPATHY

Moon △ Venus

A quiet, easy strength – genuine, if not the first thing you'd notice.

You are an affectionate person with both a deep capacity to give love and a real need to receive it. Relationships form early and tend to last; the bond to your family of origin – particularly to the mother – is likely to be strong, for better or worse. The pattern that wants watching is the pull to recreate aspects of the early family dynamic in adult partnerships: seeking nurturing from a partner, or slipping into a nurturing role that crowds out the erotic dimension, or both. The risk is that the partner ends up filling a parental function rather than a romantic one, and the relationship loses its aliveness as a result. For everyone with this aspect the task is the same: integrating the capacity for tenderness with the capacity for desire, without letting one eclipse the other. There is also a tendency towards over-attachment and a craving for constant approval that is worth recognising as a habit from childhood rather than a present-day necessity.

EMOTIONS: EMOTIONAL AWARENESS

Moon ☐ Mercury*A real tension, though not the loudest note.*

You communicate most naturally and fluently with those you are close to, but find it genuinely difficult to open up with people you do not know well. Others, however, often feel safe entrusting their thoughts and feelings to you; there is a quality of contained receptivity that they respond to. Your words and tone of voice carry your emotional state – something that ensures you an attentive audience but also makes you vulnerable when your feelings are low; under real emotional pressure you can become irrational or unclear in a way that surprises people who know your usual sharpness. Sibling relationships and school experiences will have had a profound emotional impact on your development. You are extremely sensitive to being criticised or misunderstood on a mental level. At your best you build a genuine bridge between conscious thought and deeper emotional awareness, clarifying feeling through articulation.

IMPORTANT TRANSITIONS – EMOTIONS · 2026–2028

Saturn ☿ natal Moon

FEB–APR 2027

Major changes will occur in this area of your life, and new patterns of behaviour and attitude will take root.

Emotional maturity is demanded and developed during this period. Safety and security are no longer what they were; this is not the time to expect others to provide them. The work is to shoulder domestic and emotional responsibilities uncomplainingly and with genuine dignity. Time passes slowly when there are many practical details to manage. On an inner level, unconscious emotional habits – temperamental reactivity, jealousy, emotional withholding – need to be consciously addressed rather than excused. The standards of emotional self-management being required are high. Meet them.

V MENTALITY

Mercury

Your thinking is emotionally loaded rather than detached – ideas arrive dressed in feeling, and you test them against your gut before you'll say them aloud. That's Cancer's imprint on a mind placed high in a public house: you're meant to communicate, and often do so well, but Mercury squares Neptune, which means clarity can dissolve exactly when you need it most, particularly under pressure or when a subject touches you personally. Words blur, the point slips sideways, you say something other than what you meant. The square to your own Moon compounds it – thought and feeling pulling against each other rather than working as one system. Precision has to be built deliberately here; it won't arrive by instinct alone.

You are deeply impressionable, and you tend to test your ideas and opinions against your inner feeling before expressing them – which gives your communication a weight and authenticity that more intellectually driven types sometimes lack. This emotional quality is audible in your voice, which is probably variable in tone and quite charged. You are intuitive, and that intuition gives you a real talent for grasping what others are actually thinking or feeling beneath the surface of what they say. In close relationships you tend to be quiet and receptive rather than forthcoming; people often find it difficult to know what is really on your mind. When you do communicate, it is with those you genuinely trust, and you do it with real feeling. Intimacy suits you far better than social performance.

You are a busy and active person whose ceaseless search for professional opportunity tends to pull attention away from personal and emotional life. Your sense of purpose is communication, and you can feel that intimate relationships ask you to deviate from that path – unless you have a partner who genuinely shares your professional interests. Professional preoccupation and a chronic tendency to plan ahead mean you give the domestic sphere less time than it probably warrants. A partner who creates a genuinely relaxing home atmosphere makes an enormous practical difference to your quality of life.

THE LINE

Mercury □ Neptune

This aspect is of moderate strength – its influence will be felt regularly, though not overwhelmingly. There is tension between these two planetary influences in your chart. Achieving the positive potential described here will be difficult before the age of thirty.

In intimate relationships you are acutely attuned to what the other person is thinking – sometimes accurately, sometimes not. The problem is a tendency to adjust what you say to match your assumptions about what will be welcome, rather than saying what is actually on your mind. If this habit runs long enough you can find yourself in a kind of internal exile – your real thoughts never expressed, your real self never quite known. The effort to say what is actually there, even when it feels risky, is the communication task that changes everything. You are also oversensitive to environmental stimuli – noise in particular – and partners may feel you overreact. The sensitivity is real; what varies is whether you name it as such or attribute it to the other person.

IMPORTANT TRANSITIONS – MENTALITY · 2026–2028

Saturn □ natal Mercury

APR 2026 – MAR 2027

This is a period of tension and potential disruption – most likely in your domestic life or professional sphere. Use the momentum to make changes that are overdue.

An above-average number of practical worries characterise this period. Issues need to be dealt with one at a time, methodically. Time organisation needs deliberate improvement. Communication difficulties will arise; this is the period to address them with patience and practical solutions. If there is felt inadequacy around intelligence or training, now is the time to commit to improving both. Problems may arise with siblings or neighbours; patient and diligent engagement can find workable long-term solutions. Be disciplined and get things done.

VI VALUES

Venus

What you want from connection is to be seen at full intensity, not politely admired from a comfortable distance. Venus conjunct Pluto in Leo, in the house of friendship and community, means love for you is rarely casual – you invest completely, you want to matter enormously to whoever has your attention, and ordinary affection can feel almost beside the point. This is different from the tender, absorptive bond the Moon carries; where the Moon blurs and merges, this Venus wants to be the centre of someone's world and can use real intensity, even manipulation, to secure it when threatened. The trine from the Moon and from the North Node suggests this hunger for the vivid and the transformative is, at least, one part of you that runs in the same direction as the rest – demanding, but not at war with itself.

THE LINE

Venus ♀ Pluto

This aspect is extremely powerful in your horoscope, and will be a major feature of your character. This connection between two planets shows a fusion of two very different principles – integrated into a single process. It manifests as a pronounced and consistent character trait.

Your intimate relationships are characterised by intensity – you are not interested in the casual or superficial, and you invest heavily in attracting and securing love and attention. This intensity has roots in early experiences where love felt inseparable from survival; the urgency that comes with it is understandable, but it can produce exhausting emotional scenes and a relationship that moves from crisis to crisis rather than finding a stable ground. There is also a quality of fatedness to your connections – a sense that this particular bond was destined, that nothing could break it. When the negative patterns are understood and worked through, what emerges is a real gift for providing loving, steady support to others in their most difficult moments.

Moon △ Venus – see Emotions for the full picture.

IMPORTANT TRANSITIONS – VALUES • 2026–2028

Saturn △ natal Venus

MAR–MAY 2027

This is a beneficial influence, even if you are not consciously aware of its workings. Creativity and expansion are favoured – make use of the opportunities that arise.

Real challenges in personal relationships test how deep commitments actually are. Long-term relationships require genuine renegotiation – old habits and formulaic gestures will not be sufficient. The time now asks for commitment, quality of presence, and the willingness to give without expecting equal return. Love and romance do not come easily during this phase; better to develop genuine inner self-worth than to seek confirmation from relationships. Material contentment comes from quality rather than quantity – appreciating what you have rather than craving what you lack.

VII DRIVES

Mars

Assertion moves through you quickly, verbally, restlessly – Gemini's need for variety applied to a house of belief and long horizons, so your drive shows up as argument, debate, the pursuit of the next idea rather than sustained physical push. Conjunct Uranus, that restlessness sharpens into something genuinely unpredictable: convictions defended with more heat than the moment calls for, an allergy to being pinned down or told what to conclude. It makes you exciting to be near and occasionally exhausting to live alongside, since the provocation isn't always about the actual disagreement – sometimes it's just the mind needing somewhere to spend its charge. The growth is aiming that energy at something demanding enough to hold it, rather than firing it at whoever happens to be closest.

You are quick-thinking and impulsive in self-expression – sometimes to the point of bluntness, though wit and humour usually soften the edges. The energy moves fast: mentally, physically, conversationally. There is a genuine restlessness here, a need for variety and stimulation that makes sustained focus on a single thing feel like a kind of imprisonment. In relationships this same quality produces an active, engaging presence – and a certain tendency to maintain multiple points of connection, mentally if not otherwise. Travel and excitement are not just pleasant additions to a relationship but genuine requirements. The argumentative streak is real and worth watching; it often arises from underlying mental restlessness rather than genuine disagreement. The growth is in learning to stay with one thing long enough to find out what is actually there.

You are a fearless seeker of truth whose search may take you to distant places – geographically and philosophically. You are an explorer, constantly pushing the limits of what you know and who you are. You are drawn to partners from different cultures, backgrounds, or belief systems, partly because the difference itself is stimulating and expansive. You hold strong convictions – developed through early experience of having to stand your ground intellectually – and you tend to defend them with more aggression than is always productive. A spiritual mentor may be formative, though submitting entirely to anyone's framework sits uneasily with you. Your sense of the divine tends towards the demanding rather than the gentle, which is in keeping with the journey you are on.

THE LINE

Mars ♂ Uranus

This aspect is extremely powerful in your horoscope; it will dominate many areas of your life. Two energies are merged into one by this planetary aspect. You will express this combined energy in a very personal way, for better or worse depending on the broader chart.

You are genuinely unpredictable, and your fear of constraint makes you defensively provocative when relationships make demands on you. The message that goes out – consciously or not – is that you could leave at any moment; unpredictability becomes leverage. What draws you is the unusual, the exciting, the person who promises freedom and novelty – often someone from abroad or a markedly different environment. There is a strong tendency towards explosive conflicts, which satisfy the craving for intensity in the short term but corrode closeness over time. For genuine peace in a relationship the energy needs an outlet elsewhere – an unusual interest, a demanding job, something that provides real challenge and fulfilment without requiring the relationship to carry that entire weight. When life is sufficiently stimulating, you are excellent company: willing to take risks, try new things, and keep the atmosphere alive.

VIII WISDOM

Jupiter

Growth for you doesn't come from reaching outward for more experience, more territory, more approval – it comes from going down into what you already have, slowly, and finding it's more than you thought. Meaning gets built at home, within family structure, through long private effort rather than public expansion, which can feel at odds with how visible and driven the rest of your chart wants to be. Abundance here is hard-won and mostly internal; you won't feel it arrive as luck or ease, but as the quiet accumulation of things properly built. The opposition pulling at your Sun keeps trying to drag this satisfaction outward and upward – resist that pull occasionally, and let the foundation itself be enough.

Strong moral principles and a belief in the work ethic are the foundation here – the conviction that you receive what you have genuinely earned, and that discipline and responsibility are their own reward. This gives life a certain sober quality of sustained effort that can produce real achievement over time. The shadow is a tendency to moralise – to hold others to standards they have not signed up for, and to view more expansive or pleasure-oriented approaches to life with suspicion. In personal relationships this can manifest as a restrictiveness that the other person experiences as judgement rather than care. The principle worth remembering is that abundance is also a force in the world, not only discipline. Spiritually, the advance comes through rigorous self-examination rather than through grace or revelation. The growth is in allowing that the effort has been sufficient, and that rest is not failure.

Other things being equal, you had a fortunate upbringing – possibly in an international environment, or in a large household with a stimulating philosophical or intellectual atmosphere. This has given you a genuine emotional ballast that serves you well in adult life. A father figure who held strong convictions may have been rather dominating intellectually or morally, but the long-term effect has been positive. You carry real moral conviction in family matters, and you like to live generously – a large home and possibly a period of living abroad are likely features of your life.

Sun ♀ Jupiter – see Identity for the full picture.

IMPORTANT TRANSITIONS – WISDOM · 2026–2028

Uranus △ natal Jupiter

MAY 2025 – MAY 2026

A long-term and constructive influence that will help you realise your creative potential in this area. Try to be alert to the opportunities that present themselves.

A period of increased social energy and genuine intellectual openness. Contact with people from foreign backgrounds and with radically different views can catalyse a significant shift in perspective. New Age or international groups may attract your interest. This is a great time for inspiration and changed consciousness, but you may find yourself in conflict with intellectual or spiritual authority figures who previously held significant influence. The desire to define your own path to personal growth – without the weight of any guru or mentor – is real and worth honouring.

Jupiter through House 10

JAN–AUG 2026

Professional opportunities take more of your attention than personal matters during this phase – and this is appropriate. There may also be family expansion, and investment in or improvement of the home is well-starred. The learning of this period is practical: understanding how to formulate what you want and share those goals with a partner is genuinely valuable.

Jupiter enters House 11

AUG 2026 – SEP 2027

Real understanding and pleasure through contact with friends – particularly those whose wisdom and experience you admire. A particular friendship can take on the quality of genuine mentorship. Contacts that open into a wider world are made now with relative ease.

Saturn □ natal Jupiter

MAY 2027 – MAR 2028

This is a period of tension and potential disruption – most likely in your domestic life or professional sphere. Use the momentum to make changes that are overdue.

Some real consolidation in personal life that brings greater stability is available now. Property dealings or the improvement of your home environment may be well-starred for those whose circumstances allow. A formal recognition of personal status – in whatever form is relevant to your life – may arrive. Overcoming negative thinking is specifically called for; developing the genuine capacity to believe in yourself and trust the future is the inner work. Define your position clearly and hold it.

Jupiter enters House 12

SEP 2027 – SEP 2028

A period of rapid spiritual growth or deepened creative activity. Solitude is enriching rather than isolating; communion with nature or meditative practice brings real benefit. Inner life takes priority now. There is a genuine pull towards greater compassion, and your understanding of the human situation becomes more nuanced and more useful to others.

Jupiter enters House 1

SEP 2028 – JAN 2029

Increased happiness and confidence give personal affairs a genuine lift. There is a real energy surplus now, and personal charisma enriches relationships. Use this expansive phase to move forward in areas of your life that have felt stuck.

IX CHALLENGES

Saturn

The demand here is precision without punishment – Virgo's instinct to improve, refine, get it exactly right, placed in the house of friendship and collective belonging, where Saturn asks you to build something durable out of your social world rather than simply enjoying it. That takes real, sustained work: showing up reliably, setting limits on how much you'll fix for other people, resisting the perfectionism that quietly convinces you nothing is ever quite good enough to rest in. The sextiles to Uranus and to your Midheaven suggest this discipline isn't purely restrictive – structure, once built, actually supports the unconventional and the ambitious rather than fighting them. But the effort has to come first. Nothing here arrives without it.

The challenge is making yourself genuinely useful to the world without becoming a slave to its demands. There is a strong need to be accepted and integrated in the immediate environment, alongside a recurring difficulty in finding precisely where you belong. Setting clear limits – knowing when to offer help and when to decline – is the practical work of a lifetime. When the service-orientation runs unchecked, the result is feeling misused; when it is withheld out of self-protection, isolation follows. The perfectionism is real – a felt need to improve things, make them more efficient, get them right – and while it produces good results it also generates inertia at exactly the moments when movement is needed. The growth is in recognising that good enough is not the same as failure, and that the standard you apply to yourself need not be applied to everything and everyone around you.

Learning to relax in the company of friends is among the significant personal challenges of your life. Early school experiences produced social isolation whose pain made you careful and selective in friendship thereafter. You prefer companions you know well and feel genuinely secure with; your acquaintances may be many but your real friendships are few and deeply felt. Around thirty, a significant shift often occurs – involvement with a group that comes to mean something real to you. Overcoming the residual shyness and integrating yourself into purposeful groups concerned with social issues or personal development is where the social self-esteem lost in childhood is gradually rebuilt.

GOALS: RADICAL GOALS

Uranus ♅ MC

Two forces fused into one – a dominant current you express as a single drive.

Your personal ambitions include a life that looks genuinely different from the conventional template – in how you work, how you live, and what you use your energy for. The background that shaped you included unusual circumstances that opened your imagination to possibilities most people do not consider. Periodic surges of the urge for radical change – personal, domestic, or professional – are simply part of your developmental rhythm. The work is distinguishing the changes that genuinely serve your growth from those that are simply a response to boredom.

SELF-RELIANCE: STRUCTURAL RENEWAL

Saturn ♄ Uranus

A quiet, easy strength – genuine, if not the first thing you'd notice.

Your personal struggle is very much connected with when to release your attachment to the past and open yourself and your life to the necessity of change. Often you hang on to restrictive life-patterns too long, and when sudden change comes - as it invariably does - the edifice you have built up can disintegrate as you uncompromisingly embark on a completely new venture. You tread the tightrope between generations and have the capacity to bridge the gap between young and old. Sometimes you identify with the establishment, yet there will come decisive breaks as you violently strive to adjust to change. You have a role in society in which you should bear the banner of reform.

GOALS: AGAINST THE ODDS

Saturn ♄ MC

A quiet, easy strength – genuine, if not the first thing you'd notice.

Early personal difficulties have produced a persistent tendency to underestimate yourself, even as you continue to work hard and demand more. You allow external expectations to drive you more than your own genuine sense of what matters – which means that success, when it arrives, does not always feel like the satisfaction it should. As the years pass, the self-imposed pressure eases and a more genuine personal orientation towards your own actual values becomes possible. Viewing your personal ambitions through the perspective of what you would want to have been true about your life in old age is the most clarifying lens available to you.

IMPORTANT TRANSITIONS – CHALLENGES · 2026-2028

Saturn ☐ natal MC

FEB-APR 2026

Significant friction arises from this influence – yet if you use the pressure to initiate real change, you can make genuine progress.

Professional commitments take precedence over family for a period, and setting firm limits around domestic demands – temporarily – serves both domains. The career progress built in this phase will directly benefit family life once the intensity eases. If in a partnership, the arrangement that works best is likely to be a clear division of responsibilities for the duration.

Neptune ☐ natal MC

MAR 2026 – APR 2028

Significant friction arises from this influence – yet if you use the pressure to initiate real change, you can make genuine progress.

The influence is primarily professional but has real domestic implications. Career direction is undergoing refinement in the direction of what actually carries human meaning. Parental expectations about your professional trajectory lose their grip; your own sense of what matters is what now governs. The possibility of reorienting towards a more relational role – more time with family and children, less with career performance – is worth taking seriously. Creative, caring, and spiritually oriented directions deserve to be followed wherever they lead.

Uranus ☐ natal Saturn

MAY 2026 – MAY 2027

This is a period of tension and potential disruption – most likely in your domestic life or professional sphere. Use the momentum to make changes that are overdue.

If your personal life has been dominated by rigid schedules and fixed commitments, the urge to liberate yourself from their constraints becomes compelling. Many of the structures you have built serve mainly to restrict further development. Now is the moment to open doors and take some genuine risks. Cut back on unnecessary commitments, make room for spontaneity, and allow the unexpected. Responsibility to others is real – but so is responsibility to your own continued development. Unpredictable events may arise that force change in any case; the choice is whether to move towards them or be overtaken.

Saturn △ natal Saturn

APR–JUN 2028

This is a beneficial influence, even if you are not consciously aware of its workings. Creativity and expansion are favoured – make use of the opportunities that arise.

Saturn strikes a hard aspect to its own birth position roughly every seven years, the beat that structures its full thirty-year cycle; the ages of approximately thirty, forty-four, and fifty-two mark the most important of these reorientations. At these times review the passage of your life honestly: is the direction it is taking actually what you want? If not, change it – the adjustment need not be radical, but it must be genuine. Take full responsibility for your own life rather than modelling it on what others expect. The most significant gift you can give to those around you is demonstrating that you are genuinely satisfied with your own choices. The wrong decision now carries the cost of years on an unfulfilling path.

elements & modalities

Feeling is the loudest note in this chart, and it moves fast. Water gives you depth, absorption, a real capacity to sense what's happening beneath the surface of a room or a relationship; cardinal energy, dominant everywhere else, refuses to let that depth sit still. You feel something and you act on it, almost in the same breath. Fire runs close behind, giving that action real heat and initiative, with air not far off supplying ideas and conversation to carry it. Earth is the thin element here, and its scarcity matters: patience, material caution, the willingness to simply consolidate what exists rather than transform it again, doesn't come naturally. You build fast, feel everything, and move on before the ground has properly settled. Stillness, for you, has to be practised rather than trusted.

XI ORIGINALITY

Uranus

Uranus takes 84 years to orbit the Sun and spends approximately seven years in each sign, representing a collective influence on a whole generation. It shows how that generation is most shaped by revolutionary currents in society. Uranus moved through this sign from 1949 to 1956, and will return from 2033 to 2040. These periods bring new concepts of patriotism, shifts in political alliance and loyalty, and widespread challenges to traditional ideas of family as a stable institution. The social meaning of belonging is in genuine flux. If this influence expresses itself personally in your horoscope, you will have experienced dramatic or unpredictable developments in your upbringing that shaped your attitude to family and social bonds. Your sense of what family can mean may be genuinely unconventional – communal arrangements, radical domestic structures, or a remarkable capacity to absorb and adapt to sudden changes of home and circumstance.

You have a bird's-eye view of things. Unusual experiences – perhaps involving travel to places or ideas that felt genuinely foreign – have produced radical shifts in how you understand the world. You see connections between things that conventional frameworks keep separate, and this gives your perspective a quality that can be genuinely illuminating, even when it is also somewhat unsettling to others. Traditional educational institutions never really suited you; you learn best in experimental, group-oriented environments and find consciousness-expanding courses and methods far more congenial. You may develop genuinely revolutionary ideas in some area of thought.

IMPORTANT TRANSITIONS – ORIGINALITY · 2026–2028

Saturn ☐ natal Uranus

FEB–APR 2026

Significant friction arises from this influence – yet if you use the pressure to initiate real change, you can make genuine progress.

The wilder or more provocative aspects of your nature face the demand of greater social responsibility and self-discipline. Authority figures in your life will not tolerate mere indulgence of extreme views without social accountability. This is, however, a good time to develop genuine commitment in unusual or unconventional fields – to ground New Age interests or global social concerns in real, structured engagement. A more formal commitment to an unconventional group may be what this period calls for.

Neptune ☐ natal Uranus

MAR 2026 – APR 2027

This is a period of tension and potential disruption – most likely in your domestic life or professional sphere. Use the momentum to make changes that are overdue.

For those who feel this influence – those with strong Aquarian or spiritually oriented characteristics – a period of significant inner growth is available. Revolutionary methods in the service of transcendent interests are well-starred. Consciousness work, clairvoyance, astrology, and related fields all respond well to deliberate development. There may be disillusion with particular groups or practices that initially seemed more promising than they prove to be; do not be deterred by this. Moderation in the application of these interests to domestic and professional life is necessary.

XII TRANSCENDENCE

Neptune

Neptune takes approximately 165 years to orbit the Sun, spending around 14 years in each sign. Its influence shapes a whole generation, bringing a new quality of spiritual awareness and compassion in relation to the sign it occupies. Neptune was in Libra from 1942 to 1955. These periods brought a strong collective idealism about justice, equality before the law, and balance between people. Marriage was simultaneously idealised in popular culture and undermined in practice. Politically the emphasis was on the balance of power, with grotesque distortions of opposing factions. If you channel this influence personally, you will hold many unrealistic ideals about love combined with genuine hopes for relationship happiness. The dissolution of relationships around you will have profoundly affected you, prompting a recurring need to redefine what partnership actually means. You have a genuinely refined talent for engaging with people – a compassionate nature and real interest in others – and you believe in meeting people as equals.

There are moments of real vision and inspiration in your personal life – and alongside these, an underlying atmosphere of dissatisfaction, as if something essential is permanently just out of reach. Others can find it difficult to give you the satisfaction you seem to need, not because they are not trying but because what you are seeking cannot be provided by external means. You function at your best when you cultivate a genuinely caring orientation towards others rather than waiting for the world to fill the inner gap. Early spiritual experiences may have opened a permanent window in your consciousness. In partnership, the tendency to be a damping influence – a quality of vague unhappiness that settles over the relationship – is the shadow to watch. Romantic love cannot provide the spiritual nourishment you require; cultivating transcendent interests of your own is what gradually resolves this.

IMPORTANT TRANSITIONS – TRANSCENDENCE • 2026–2028

Saturn ♄ natal Neptune

APR 2026 – MAR 2027

Strong tensions will manifest in this area of your life. Other people are likely to impinge directly and require you to make real adjustments.

A period of real personal aloneness and reduced material security. Outer structures dissolve; the inner resources need to become the primary foundation. Spiritual discipline or long-term creative development plans are what this period genuinely serves. Without that investment, the experience is one of being at the fringe – down and out in some genuinely felt way. Even so, there may be a real impulse to take on responsibility for those who suffer, or to make a sacrifice for others. Avoid negative states of mind and be attentive to alcohol or substance use.

Uranus ♃ natal Neptune

JUN 2028 – JUN 2029

A long-term and constructive influence that will help you realise your creative potential in this area. Try to be alert to the opportunities that present themselves.

A subtle influence that works most strongly in those sensitive to inner consciousness and imagination. Fantasy and spiritual creativity are heightened; the discipline is keeping contact with ordinary reality alongside the extraordinary inner material that arises. Deep emotions stir, opening new states of awareness and transcendental experience. Meditation, group work with genuine depth, and the deliberate development of intuitive and clairvoyant capacities can all yield real results at this time.

XIII TRANSFORMATION

Pluto

Pluto has an irregular orbit of approximately 248 years, spending as few as 12 years in a sign when closest to the Sun and as many as 30 years when furthest away. Its influence is felt collectively at a very deep level, bringing trauma, transformation, and renewal in connection with the sign it occupies. Pluto was in Leo from 1939 to 1957. These years saw power politics and charismatic leaders exercising intense influence. Power concentrated in elite hands; heroic figures shaped the national psyche. Entertainment emerged as a tool for swaying collective feeling, while new freedoms around leisure and self-realisation began to shift the cultural emphasis toward the individual. If you channel this influence personally, you have a forceful character and a charismatic effect on others. Your personal convictions and principles are strong and not easily compromised. Natural leadership sits alongside a genuine resentment of being dominated by authority – though you can be somewhat autocratic yourself. A series of identity crises during the course of your life – perhaps involving children or significant relationships – will bring radical shifts in direction as you redefine your goals and your relationship to personal power.

Early in life you developed strong views about the influence of groups on the individual – probably arising from a painful experience of social exclusion. Your social survival strategy involves a readiness to sever connections with a group or friend when the pressure becomes too great; a cultivated self-sufficiency that functions as social insurance. You tend to form bonds with friends who are in real difficulty, and you are highly effective in helping them through crisis. The same friends can disappear unexpectedly from your life once the crisis has passed – or you can withdraw when the relationship becomes too demanding. There is rich psychological material here, and some kind of personal development work in a group context would be specifically valuable for you.

Moon △ Pluto – see Emotions for the full picture.

IMPORTANT TRANSITIONS – TRANSFORMATION • 2026-2028

Saturn △ natal Pluto

FEB-APR 2027

This is a beneficial influence, even if you are not consciously aware of its workings. Creativity and expansion are favoured – make use of the opportunities that arise.

Though sometimes subtle, this influence can release powerful unconscious material. Emotional states – jealousy, paranoia, obsessive behaviour – surface now, and attempting to repress them gives them more power rather than less. A warning sign is finding yourself accusing others of malign intent, or feeling shadowed or persecuted. The inner demons manifest in outer events at this time; but the solutions are to be found within. Work with this material, rather than projecting it. This period responds well to shamanic or depth psychological approaches.

XIV DESTINY

North/South Nodes

Deep and unconscious drives, which have their roots far back into the past, create situations in which you - when young - almost stand on your head to take other people's views and needs into consideration. You are motivated by the need to be liked and appreciated, but a time will come when you will experience a major reorientation in this respect. By going for what you really want - by allowing yourself to take the initiative and go for what is right for you - you will find your true self. It is important for you to risk doing what you really want, even if you feel it alienates others. Things simply do not work for you when you unctuously try to win approval, whereas when you strike out on your own you win the respect and appreciation of others.

Self-sufficiency comes naturally to you, but partnership holds important learning. As you get older you find that fulfilling purely personal interests becomes less satisfying than you expected, and a genuine reorientation of values takes place. The deepest personal development available to you comes through intimate relationship – through the sustained practice of seeing yourself in another person and choosing partnership over ego. A significant turning point often occurs around thirty-seven. The more depth you allow in your closest relationships, the greater your sense of genuine fulfilment.

A deep habit of self-sufficiency – of managing alone and trusting primarily your own resources and judgement – runs through your personal history. Professionally and personally, this has served you up to a point. As you mature, the realisation grows that fulfilling purely personal goals cannot provide the satisfaction you are seeking, and a genuine shift towards valuing partnership and collaboration begins. The turning point often arrives around thirty-seven, when investment in real mutual relationships begins to seem not like compromise but like the direction growth has been pointing towards all along.

DESTINY: MOTHER EARTH

Moon ♋ N. Node

Two forces fused into one – a dominant current you express as a single drive.

The emotional currents of your life run very strong. You will find yourself repeatedly drawn into the full force of emotional attraction and dependence – losing your footing more than once in the maelstrom of feeling. Sudden changes may carry you far from what you thought of as home. Growth comes gradually as you learn to find your bearings in the world of feeling and the unconscious – not by suppressing either, but by developing genuine capacity to move within them without being overwhelmed.

DESTINY: TRUTH IN BEAUTY

Venus ♀ N. Node

A quiet, easy strength – genuine, if not the first thing you'd notice.

Particular magnetic attractions will be among the most formative experiences of your life – encounters that carry a weight of significance beyond the personal, shaping your spiritual development as much as your emotional one. The pleasures and pains of love, the whole domain of the senses and attachment, will be a constant source of both fascination and challenge. You may respond by indulging every experience the senses offer, or by moving towards purity and simplicity as the alternative. Either way, your choices in this area carry a resonance that extends beyond yourself.

DESTINY: THE ILLUSION OF BEING

Sun ☐ N. Node

A real tension, though not the loudest note.

Contact with other people will play a central role in your search for genuine self-knowledge. Father figures – through their presence or through their absence – will force deep questions about the nature of your existence; these questions in turn generate real spiritual growth. Influential people and, later in life, spiritual figures may be eclipsed by sudden inner realisations that outpace what any external authority can offer. Times of inner darkness alternate with the clarity of direct understanding.

DESTINY: SURVIVAL IN EXTREMITY

Pluto Δ N. Node*A quiet, easy strength – genuine, if not the first thing you'd notice.*

Profound upheavals or staggering transformations can change the course of your life at key moments in your development. You will be exposed in one way or another to the destructive forces in society, or to the inner demons of fate, and this may force you to make ruthless decisions to ensure your survival. Archetypal memories of death or destruction can trouble your unconscious mind. You may also be exposed socially because you awaken anxiety or sexual undercurrents in others. You will be no stranger to loss, but you have no difficulty in turning your back on the past and starting anew.

IMPORTANT TRANSITIONS – DESTINY · 2026–2028

Saturn σ natal North Node

APR–JUN 2027

Major changes will occur in this area of your life, and new patterns of behaviour and attitude will take root.

A period in which time slows and the opportunity to take stock of where your life has led you becomes pressing. Responsibilities to others and your role in the broader world take on unusual weight and clarity. Some people feel that their chosen direction leads to a dead end in these months, or that plans for the future have become hollow. Genuine benefit comes from inner spiritual discipline – the hunger that is felt at this time cannot be satisfied by external success.

XV THE LINES

the through-line

Three aspects converge on the same argument. The Moon trines Pluto, almost exactly, giving you the capacity for transformative depth of feeling – the ability to go all the way down with someone in crisis. The Moon also opposes Neptune, so that same emotional openness blurs your boundaries, leaving you unsure whether what you're feeling is yours or absorbed from whoever is nearest. And Venus conjoins Pluto, carrying the same intensity into desire and connection, where it wants to matter completely to someone rather than settle for the ordinary. All three are versions of one confrontation: depth against dissolution, intensity against boundary. You are built to feel enormously and to transform through what you feel, but the same wiring makes it hard to know where you end and someone else begins. Layered against this, Mars conjoins Uranus and the Sun opposes Jupiter – restless assertion pulling one way, expansive achievement pulling another, both a little estranged from the emotional undertow running beneath them. The mind, the ambition, and the drive all sit slightly apart from the deep water where the real transformation actually happens. That gap is the work of this chart, not a flaw in it.

◆ THE YEARS AHEAD

transit overview · 20 aspects

This is a period that asks you to slow down inside feelings you'd rather move through quickly. Saturn conjoins your Moon almost exactly in March 2027, peaking through February to April that year – a stretch where emotional structures get tested directly: old attachments, family patterns, the question of what you're actually entitled to feel versus what you've been carrying out of habit. It won't feel comfortable, but it's load-bearing work, not damage. Before that arrives, Saturn opposes your Ascendant in March 2026 and squares your Midheaven the same month, both peaking February through April 2026 – a compressed window where your public role and your sense of self pull in different directions, and compromises you'd normally avoid become necessary. Neptune opposes your Ascendant across much of 2026 into spring 2027, and separately squares your Midheaven from March 2026 into 2028 – a long, low fog around identity and direction, one that asks for patience rather than decisive action, since clarity genuinely isn't available on demand during this stretch. Saturn then squares your own Sun from May 2027 through into 2028, pressing directly on the achievement-driven identity this chart runs on, forcing a reckoning between what you've built and what it actually costs you. The turning point comes late: Saturn trines your Venus in April 2027, and Pluto's long trine to your Ascendant runs underneath much of this whole window, from early 2025 through into 2027 – a quieter, steadier current of transformation that doesn't demand crisis to do its work. None of this is fixed in advance. The transits describe pressure and its timing, not the outcome. What you do with the room they open is still entirely yours to decide.

Each bar below traces the life of a single influence across the years ahead – from the moment it first begins to build, through the exact passes where it comes to a head (marked ◆), to the point it eases and clears. Where a planet turns retrograde it crosses the same point three times, so the influence arrives in waves rather than all at once, deepening and releasing before it finally settles.
